Why Nagoya?

Chukyo University is one of the largest private universities in central Japan and has two campus locations: Nagoya and Toyota. Boise State students study at the Nagoya campus.

It is a great study abroad destination for those interested in an immersion experience. Students have an abundance of opportunities, both inside the classroom and out, to interact with Japanese classmates, improve language skills and experience Japan.

Academics

Students may take Japanese language courses from beginning to advanced levels and students can earn approximately 12-15 credits of Japanese during their time abroad. Students may also take culture classes such as Japanese Culture and Society or Comparative Cultural Studies Course information is located on the Chukyo website.
